Counselling and Advice Services

Pregnancy counselling and midwifery

Dear patient

A pregnancy and the weeks after giving birth are a time of great change. New life circumstances affect social security matters and employment issues (child care allowance and maternity benefits) and may require additional support measures (paediatric nursing, child care for siblings, etc.).

We offer

- Contact person for employment and social security related questions, including advice and assistance in claims enforcement
- Assistance in selecting and organising support services such as outpatient midwife care and family helpers
- Information regarding child care allowance, maternity leave, paternity acknowledgement and alimony payments
- Financial advice and assistance in locating a suitable place to live
- Information and referral to an appropriate advice centre in case of domestic violence
- Advice and counselling for mothers and their dependants
